

PRIVATE SHOOTING LESSONS

Arnold Trail Sportsmen Association – ATSA private lessons are a great way to improve your skills and confidence in shotgun sports. Sessions start with skills evaluation and discussion then setting goals appropriate for you that establish expectations for one or more lessons.

Instructors are coaches and your partners in your development providing structure, guidance and patience in attaining your goals. Custom-designed exercises and constructive feedback will advance your skills and confidence to ensure more promising results no matter where you are on your journey.

David Graham, Certified NSCA Level I Instructor is a Maine native and Master Class shooter with extensive competitive experience. David has a lifetime of achievements nationally in skeet, trap and sporting clays. As coach, David will work with you every step of the way to ensure you're getting the most from each session to quickly advance and achieve your goals. Contact: 774-284-1416

Roger Jellison, Certified NSCA Level I Instructor, also a Maine native has been pursuing the challenge and joy of breaking clays for over 20 years. Roger best enjoys helping new shooters gain a solid foundation in shotgun sports. Discussion includes gun safety, gun fit, ammo selection and shot planning that will strengthen the student's confidence and improve results. Contact: 207-323-6767
